Members,

A quick update on upcoming events. Our luncheon program, thanks to the planning and effort of Lucky Rivers and Bud Jewett, are lined up to spin the chapter up in preparation for Joint Warfighting Conference 2010. Our guidance from JFCOM leadership is to continue our focus on the JOE and the CCJO. Our January luncheon was not confirmed very far in advance, but was a fantastic discussion on the upcoming release of JOE '10, by RAdm Rice, JFCOM J5. Locked in, now, are the next three month's speakers: Tues 23 Feb: Jim O'Connell, IWC

Tues 23 Mar: RADM Dan Davenport, J9

Tues 20 April: LTG Keith Huber, Dep Cdr

We could not have a better slate. Feb's luncheon is 1130 at the Omni and the following venues will be announced at later dates. Watch for announcements or check the chapter website.

Speaking of JWC '10, it is time once again to attend AND volunteer for the Joint Warfighting Conference 2010 (JWC 10) in Virginia Beach on May 10th - 13th. Lucky Rivers will be soliciting help from the membership to man the chapter booth, assist in admin duties, and/or whatever assistance we are requested to perform. I will ask NOW that you please mark your calendars and commit to donating some block of time to working the conference. Dewey Mauldin, from Boeing has graciously agreed to be Chief Cat Herder for the conference. Feel free to contact him with your volunteer status/dates/times at 757-295-2101 or dewey.mauldin@boeing.com For those who did not attend last year, we had nearly 9000 attendees, and the networking opportunities are fantastic.

Lastly, our chapter has been asked to assist in the creation of a new chapter of Women In Defense, aka WID, an affiliate of NDIA. Glenda Bluhm, whom many of you know well from her years of support to the chapter, is planning a kickoff meeting in March. Watch the website for more news and please spread the word among your co-workers.
